
General Rule for publishing Article, Research Paper, Thesis and plagiarism

To maintain quality and honesty in research, article, thesis, and plagiarism, the institution has prepared to code of ethics for authors and editors so that an ideal academic and research environment prevail.

For Author

- Thoughts and analysis presented in articles, books and thesis should be creative contributive of the author. Any part or chapter of the author should not be copied from other articles, books or thesis.
- The sources used by the author in preparing research papers or thesis should be mentioned in detail in references list and bibliography.
- The reference list should be prepared as guideline by publishing agencies or standard MLA handbook.
- The author should furnish a certificate of plagiarism before a publication of his/her articles, books or thesis.
- The language of thesis or articles should not hurt sentiments of any caste or gender.
- It is mandatory to inform the publishing agencies by the author that the articles sent for publication is not published anywhere in any form.

For Editor

The code of ethics for the editors of souvenir of conferences and seminars and college magazine 'Brahmkshetra' are as below:

- The article received by the editors for publication should be sent for scrutiny to the Review committee before publishing them.
- The editors have the rights to send back the articles to the authors for rectification or modification.
- The content of the books, souvenir or college magazine should be kept confidential before they get published.
- The plagiarism of article or research has to be checked.

Type of plagiarism

1. Duplication
2. Invalid source
3. Replication etc.

Note : 1. Note:

On the demand of the faculty or students, facility to check their research wok and articles in plagiarism by out sourcing. (We will provide the facility of checking plagiarism through HNG University or any academic institution.)